I think the cell phone ban is fabulous. If your school has phones and your parents can get in touch with you through the phones, I don't see the need of cell phones.

1.2

The cell phone ban is not a good thing. What if your child has basketball practice or something else after school and it is cancelled because of rain or something else. They need to contact you.

1.3

I don't think the ban is fair. I have my cell phone every day at school. I never use them in school because it is not allowed. But I think people should be allowed to have them. As others have said, there are emergencies you might have to deal with, or practices or clubs after school and you need a ride home. I have used my cell phone because I stay after school sometimes for drama club and have called my parents for a ride. They are really important to some kids in the school system.

1.4

I don't think it is necessary to ban cell phones. Today, there are a lot of school shootings and a lot of things that could happen in school. You might need cell phones for an emergency if you couldn't use the school phone. Yes, I understand people use cell phones for cheating and stuff, but I think it will be fine if they ban cell phone use during class time.

People are going to find some other way to cheat and communicate with their friends even with a cell phone ban. It's not the cell phone so much that is the problem but the person using the cell phone. People using them in class could be dealing, with a lack of concentration or self-discipline. I don't know how to solve that problem but I don't think the cell phone ban is going to help anything. Once the next thing comes out, they will use it again and again and this problem will resurface.
